Good Morning everyone,

I have attached a few photos for you to view .

As you will note a green bin has been added to the stream and a white plastic container.

As the rain has been so persistent and the discarded items are blocking the stream/ditch they are being pushed back towards our main gates . The white plastic container is right at the top now .

Paul has been out and cleared some rubbish but it still does need the Spice of Asia to clear their items so they don't fall into the Stream/ditch .

A point to note - there can be no denying that some of these items are from the restaurant because the plant pot used to be at their door entrance .

On a positive note the black and white wall coming down has improved the look and Greenfields mobile homes have yesterday put some extra tarmac down and cleared some weeds.

One week ago I approached the work men who were repairing the ground grate into the entrance of Greenfields.

I did this because they were taking their wheelbarrow with stone , broken tarmac over the road and tipping it at the back of the car park .

When I spoke with them they said sorry but they thought it was derelict land .

They said they would take the rest home in their van .

Perhaps we need to enforce the owner of the derelict building to do something with this property because perhaps this adds to the reasons for the fly tipping.
